Conceived as a single-family dwelling, but now home to the law office of Lawrence E. Sherman, this 2 ½-story gable-front-and-wing building has been enlarged with the addition a large 2-story ell. Walls are clad in aluminum siding. Windows and doors are modern replacements. The front, hipped-roof porch is partially enclosed. This domestic building is considered a contributing resource because of its age, historic associations and because it is the only surviving historic resource on this side of the block. It defines the Historic District's northwestern boundary.
